

Dear Dr. Hsiao,

I wanted to thank you again for providing an incredible academic and professional experience at the GEM4 Summer School. The combination of lecture and lab topics were excellent! This school has been an incredible opportunity for young scientists, such as myself, to broaden our understanding and learn about the latest approaches being used to study cellular mechanics (which is so exciting!). Also, having the opportunity to speak with some of the lecturers and ask more specific, detailed questions was extremely mind-opening and working hand-in-hand with lab module instructors provided additional insights into the techniques that make these technologies work! I am very grateful for this experience!

These were an inspiring two weeks and I probably speak for all who attended that this time will be remembered as an outstanding moment in our careers.

Thank you!!

Sincerely,

Julie Matheny
